Mission Spotlight - Trailways Camp Gregg Kearns

"He can do things that totally amaze us."

Gregg was diagnosed with Cerebral Palsy when he was an infant, and has undergone a number of orthopedic surgeries and therapies since. Gregg, who is now 41, lives with Gloria and her husband Pete, but lives a fairly independent life, working every day at the Community Resource Network, then coming home and doing chores. He folds clothes, takes the trash out, and even does yard work. "Gregg is a very self-sufficient young man, even though he's in a wheelchair," explains Gloria. "He does not let being disabled stop him from trying things." When Gregg found out about Trailways Camp, he immediately started looking forward to attending. Gregg attended camp as a child and enjoys trips with his family in their motor home, but Trailways Camp was his first opportunity to camp with his peers in two decades. "He felt very accomplished, and got to participate in an activity that everyone else in the group got to do," says Jesi. "I thought that was such a great way of making the activity his own!" In addition to helping young people with disabilities make new friends and develop support networks, Trailways Camp is also designed to provide relief and support for families and caregivers. In many cases, parents have their first opportunity for respite in years. "Gregg had a great time at camp. He keeps asking when there is going to be another one," says Gloria. "He met and made a lot of new friends, and he had a great time. And my husband and I got to spend time alone, which was very nice." (for complete story: www.goodwillswfl.org/success)
